

DREYFUS LIKE AN ANIMAL AT BAY

Denials of the Accused Were Fierce.

HE IS SUFFERING FROM PHYSICAL EXHAUSTION.

Mental Keenness Is Unimpaired—Labori Arrived At the Court Early, Looking Well After Yesterday's Efforts—Prosecution Began By Playing Strong Cards to Counteract the Work of Yesterday and the Process of Proving the Prisoner Guilty On General Principles—Maj. Roy the First Witness.

Rennes, Aug. 23.—[Special]—M. Labori arrived at the court room early, looking well after yesterday's efforts.

The prosecution began by playing strong cards to counteract Labori's brilliant work of yesterday, and the process of proving Dreyfus guilty on general principles continued.

When the witnesses testified of the dislike and suspicion of fellow officers for the prisoner, Major Roy, the first witness, said that Dreyfus continually provoked suspicion.

Major Dervieux told of the irregular hours at which the prisoner worked in the bureau. He said he saw him prying into a chest of documents.

Captain Duclaux said that Dreyfus asked where the confidential documents were kept.

Testimony Tortured Dreyfus

Dreyfus replying said that the testimony tortured him. The harmless inquiries were twisted into incriminations, he said.

A horse trader named Dubreuil testified to meeting Dreyfus at the house of Mme. Bodson to whom Dreyfus was deeply attentive. Another visitor at the same house, the witness continued, was a German officer, with whom Dreyfus often spoke German; that Mme. Bodson had told witness there were secrets involving the honor of France between Dreyfus and the German.

Under cross examination by Labori, the witness could not remember the German officer's name.

Dreyfus denied meeting a German at the Bodson house, but admitted knowing the woman before his marriage in 1897.

Dreyfus Like an Animal at Bay.

Dreyfus defended himself like an animal at bay and his denials were fierce. The accused is suffering physical exhaustion, though his mental keenness is unimpaired.

Esterhazy's evidence before the court of cassation was read. He testified that he was advised to defend himself against Picquart.

At Labori's request the three letters of Esterhazy's to the late President Faure were read. An extract from the first said: "Should I not listen to the head of my country, my appeal will reach the sovereign Esterhazy family or the German emperor."

Labori called Gen. Gonse, who ordered Picquart to Tunis. Gonse denied the statements of Esterhazy, reflecting on the general staff. Under no circumstances would the witness employ Esterhazy.

Anarchy Coming in France.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—The Cologne Gazette, referring to the recent scandalous developments in Paris, says that the affairs of the republic are becoming more and more entangled and fast approaching anarchy. The play being enacted at Rennes, it says, means nothing more than a solemn affirmation of contempt for the supreme court of justice.

Germany Not Involved.

Hamburg, Aug. 23.—The Hamburgische Correspondenz, discussing the assertion that Germany should publish certain documents proving the innocence of Dreyfus, says: "The answer to this is that documents of this nature cannot be produced for the simple reason that Germany never had anything to do with Capt. Dreyfus."

Guerin Siege Kept Up.

Paris, Aug. 23.—There is but little to chronicle from Fort Chabrol, as the Parisians have now definitely christened the anti-Semitic stronghold. The environs of the fortress show little change, except that the police and republican guards have been replaced by soldiers of the line.

Schneider Is Reticent.

Paris, Aug. 23.—Col. Schneider, the former Austrian military attaché in Paris, has arrived here. He declines to say anything in regard to the Dreyfus affair or the connection he is alleged to have had with it until the conclusion of the court-martial.

OTIS WILL STAY IN COMMAND.

Conference at Lake Champlain Decides on Many Important Moves.

Hotel Champlain, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The following positive statement of the conference held here Tuesday by President McKinley, Vice President Hobart, Secretary of War Root and Atty.-Gen. Griggs may be made.

The first step upon the renewal of hostilities will be toward the capture of Aguinaldo. Gen. Otis has been instructed to leave no stone unturned to accomplish this end. With Aguinaldo a prisoner the administration believes the insurrection will end.

Major-Gen. Otis will continue in command of the American forces in the Philippines.

Nearly 70,000 troops will be available for service in the far east before Nov. 1. More than 80,000 will be on the ground by that date.

No peace proposals from Aguinaldo or his followers will be accepted except on conditions of immediate surrender to American authority.

Secretary Root, who came here on the noon train from New York, is not the optimist regarding conditions in the Philippines that he was ten days ago. Then he believed that the war would be brought to a close before the assembling of congress. In the meantime he has learned that Gen. Otis' rosy picture of the situation does not reveal the truth.

From secret sources Secretary Root received information that the Filipinos are in much better fighting shape than he had supposed or is generally known—that Aguinaldo has more than 30,000 well drilled, fully armed troops in the island of Luzon alone.

As soon as the secretary received this information he communicated it to the president and the upshot was an immediate call for ten additional regiments of volunteers.

The secretary has not been favorably impressed with Gen. Otis, and if he could have had his way Otis probably would have been relieved. But the president, Mr. Hobart, Gen. Miles and Gen. Merritt all favored Otis, and this put an end to Secretary Root's inclination to displace him.

The only information which Secretary Root would give, after a talk with Gen. Merritt, was that Gen. Miles would not be sent to Manila. Gen. Merritt confirmed this.

Union Veterans Open Camp.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 23.—The national encampment of the Union Veterans' union formally opened its sessions Tuesday with 1,000 in attendance. Gen. He denounced this policy bitterly and called on all members of the order to use their influence to secure fairer treatment for the soldiers.

ATTORNEY BATES IS A GOOD ACTOR

SPOKE AT MURPHY LEAGUE MEETING SUNDAY.

Brings Tears to the Eyes of Many With a Sad Story of a Jamboree and Arrest and Then Says It Was All a Dream—Tears Changed to Smiles.

The Beloit Daily News is responsible for the following:

"Janesville people have entertained and enjoyed some of the most prominent actors of the country, but no audience in that city was ever more moved than by the pitiful recital of a local Henry Irving at a temperance meeting Sunday afternoon. The principal character in this tragedy was J. W. Bates of this city."

"The occasion was one of the grand meetings of the Francis Murphy League of that city and nearly five hundred persons were present. After excellent speeches by several members, the chairman called upon Attorney J. W. Bates for a few remarks. Mr. Bates began his talk with a plea in behalf of those who had fallen from grace since becoming members of the club, and asked that they be given a second trial. He then said he wanted to give an experience of his own, which had a bearing on this side of the question, and spoke as follows:

"I was sitting in my office in Beloit one day last week when my thoughts turned to some law books which I had long desired. As a result of my temperance resolves I had accumulated quite a nice sum of extra cash and decided I would go into Chicago, Thursday and buy them. Accordingly, I arrived in the Windy City with a large roll of money, but one of the first men I met was 'one of the boys,' of old acquaintanceship. He asked me to take something, and I surprised him by taking a cigar. While we were standing there another old friend came in and another invitation followed, and I took a glass of pop. Others drifted in, and soon my cigars and pop were so much ridiculed that I consented to take a glass of ale. That was the beginning, and wine followed the ale, and whisky the wine. Then followed the jamboree. I was a king pin, because I had plenty of money. Finally came a fracas, the police and a patrol ride, and all ended when the stern judge said: 'Forty dollars or two months in the Bridewell.'"

"I hadn't even a postage stamp left and the workhouse yawned before me. Then without money I was without friends. Everyone who voted me a good fellow while my money lasted forsok me now. Finally a big-hearted policeman stepped forward and said: 'I'll give you another trial, old boy, and I think you'll prove true blue. Can't I telegraph some of your friends?' This blue-coated savior then telegraphed Cham. Ingersoll and Holden Parker at home and they came by the next train, settled my fine and when I emerged from prison, encouraged me with the greeting, 'Never mind, old fellow, but cheer up and start again.'"

"Mr. Bates told this story much more graphically than it can be written and the tears trickled down his face. The pathos of the story affected the audience and many were crying when the narrator reached this point. He then continued:

"But, friends, I am glad to say that this picture is only a dream which came to me during a quiet snooze in my office and I have not been in Chicago for two months."

"The effect of these words upon the audience was magical. They saw that they had been tricked by a clever word painter and the tears were hidden behind smiles and the laughter which followed continued fully five minutes."

"Some one in the rear of the audience yelled: 'Bates, you've been hitting the pipe' which seemed to be the sentiment of the crowd judging from the renewed laughter which followed."

War Seems Needed.

New York, Aug. 23.—J. W. Regan, an expert mining engineer, who for the last year and a half has been making a careful study of mining and governmental conditions of the Transvaal, is in this city. The prospect of war with Great Britain, Mr. Regan says, at the time he left Johannesburg a few weeks ago was, according to the native Boers, very slight. It was expected by them that a compromise would be reached. The foreign element, however, earnestly hoped that it would come, for in it they see future prosperity.

HOSTILE NATIONS FRIENDLY TO US

Transvaal War Causes No Uneasiness.

BOERS AND BRITISH AMICABLE TOWARD U. S.

Citizens of This Country Will Be in a More Favored Position Than Those of Any Other Nation—Should It Appear That War Is Inevitable, Plans Will Be Made to Protect Property and Persons—Prepared to Send Vessels to South America At First Sign of An Outbreak.

Washington, Aug. 23.—[Special]—Rumors of war in Transvaal are causing little uneasiness in state department circles, so far as American interests are concerned. Both the Boers and British are friendly to the United States and the Americans having property in Transvaal will be in a more favored position than the citizens of any other country.

If it should appear that war is inevitable, plans will be made by the state department to protect their property and persons and will be promptly carried into effect.

The navy department is prepared to send a vessel to South Africa at the first sign of an outbreak.

To Punish British Subjects.

Cape Town, Aug. 23.—In the Cape assembly Tuesday Cecil Rhodes, referring to the Transvaal question, said: "No, there will be no bloodshed. President Kruger, like a sensible man, will climb down. The less the Cape Colony is concerned in the quarrel the better."

Continuing Mr. Rhodes said it was certain the Transvaal would become an English-speaking community, and the outlanders, being in a vast majority, would form a government in keeping with their views. He expressed the hope that the settlement would be fair, and that Cape Colony would let the imperial government deal with that matter.

It is rumored here that the Boers intend to attempt a coup to obtain forcible possession of the ammunition detained by the Portuguese.

Offers Five-Year Franchise.

"I haven't the least fear," Major Delaford.

"Then you're a man of unbounded courage," retorted his friend, Ulysses Crinklethorpe. "For—may I venture to be frank?"

"Oh, certainly! By all means."

"Well, then, they do say that Mrs. Flashington drove her first husband into his grave by ungovernable temper."

"I've heard that before," said Maj. Delaford, puffing complacently away at his cigar.

"But, of course," with a sarcastic laugh, "you don't believe it?"

"Excuse me," said Maj. Delaford, severely. "I do believe it. I have seen, now and then, an expression in Justina's eyes which fully carries out any theory of that nature."

"And yet you are going to marry her?"

"And yet I am going to marry her."

"Felix Delaford, are you crazy?"

"Not that I am aware of."

"Will you be honest with me?"

"To be sure," nodded the major.

"Then, why do you marry Mrs. Flashington?"

"Well, from a variety of reasons. One is that I like her. She's a pretty little gypsy, with a skin like white velvet, and delicious long lashes to her eyes!"

"Proceed."

"A second is—mind, now, I never did pretend to be one of the disinterested lovers one reads about in dime novels—that the dear, departed Flashington left her remarkably well off. And I have more merit than money."

"I think you will repent it," said Mr. Crinklethorpe, "for, by all accounts, the black-eyed divinity is neither more nor less than a virago."

"There are very few actions in this world that one doesn't repent, in a greater or less degree," said Maj. Delaford, sententiously, "but, averaging things, I'm willing to risk it."

"And Maj. Delaford was married the next week to Mrs. Flashington."

It was not long, as Mr. Crinklethorpe had foretold, before the claw began to peep from under Mrs. Flashington Delaford's velvet sheath.

"Felix," said she one day, "I don't like this location."

"Don't you, my dear?" said Maj. Delaford. "I've lived here two-and-thirty years and always found it very pleasant."

"I don't like it," said Mrs. Delaford. "I prefer a house nearer the park."

Maj. Delaford went on reading.

"Felix, I say!" The bride's voice was raised a degree or so higher—the dangerous sparkle had come into her eyes.

"Yes, Justy."

"I mean to move uptown."

"Do you?"

"And at once."

"Very well," said the major, "then you will move alone. I shall remain where I am."

"Maj. Delaford, you are a brute!"

The major bowed. Justina burst into tears.

"Yes, a brute, and I'm sorry I ever married you!"

And after that Mrs. Delaford did not speak to her husband for two days. But as the major appeared in no wise affected by this jaciturnity she adopted another plan, and scolded steadily for three days.

"Look here, Justy, this won't do," said the major, at the week's end. "I don't fancy either a dumb woman or a fury!"

"That I should live to be so spoken to," whimpered Mrs. Delaford.

"So," went on the major, "I have called your master at once."

written to my cousin, Rosamond Bly, to come and spend the summer here."

"I won't have her in my house!" shrieked the bride.

"But I will have her in mine," composedly retorted the husband.

"Let me see her presume to enter this house!" cried Justina.

"Let me see you presume to be uncivil to her," said the major, knitting his brows in a way that Mrs. Delaford had never seen in her late husband's countenance. For, to tell the truth, the late Mr. Flashington had been but a chicken-hearted individual at best.

Mrs. Delaford flounced out of the room and banged the door viciously behind her.

Miss Bly arrived the next day—a cheery-checked, bright-eyed girl, with lips wreathed in smiles, and a brand-new traveling suit cut after a deal prettier pattern than the bride's own.

Mrs. Delaford refused to speak to her.

"Justina," said her husband, in a warning voice, "this is my cousin, Rosamond. I hope you will make her welcome to our home."

But Mrs. Delaford only threw a slipper at her husband, burst into tears, and ran hysterically upstairs.

"Oh, Felix! what's the matter?" asked Rosamond, half-frightened out of her senses. "Had I better go home?"

"By no means, my dear Rosamond," said the major. "You see, I have married a woman with a temper. But she'll be all the more charming when that fault is rooted out of her character."

The major went upstairs and tried to open the door. It was locked.

"Justina," he said, gently, "it is I. Let me in."

"I won't snapp the bride."

"Will you come downstairs, then?"

"I will not come out of my room until that woman is out of the house!" sputtered forth Mrs. Delaford.

"Very well, my dear," said the major, and he returned to the drawing-room with untruffled philosophy.

Mrs. Delaford adhered to her resolution, although it was much tried by sundry peculiar sounds she heard on the outside of her door.

"Maj. Delaford has carpenters at work altering the house," thought she. "It makes but little difference to me in any case. I shan't stay here."

At the end of the third day, however, she concluded to go downstairs. But when she opened the door, lo and behold! her egress was barred by a grating iron door.

"Mercy upon us!" cried Mrs. Delaford. "What is this?"

"Please, ma'am," said the little maid, who had brought up her meals three times a day, "it's master as had it done."

"What for?" cried Justina.

"Please, ma'am," said Hetty, trembling all over, "don't you know you're crazy?"

"Insolent minion!" said Mrs. Delaford, "call your master at once!"

Maj. Delaford came immediately upstairs, with Rosamond Bly clinging in a frightened sort of way to his arm.

"How do you feel now, my dear?" he asked, solicitously.

"I'm well enough," snarled Mrs. Delaford. "Open that door quick!"

"Mad! Very mad, indeed!" said Maj. Delaford, in sotto voce, turning to Rosamond.

"Ruffian!" cried the bride, "how dare you speak so?"

"Getting violent!" added the major, shaking his head.

"Let me out, I say!" persisted Mrs. Delaford, rattling at the bars. "What does this absurd mummery mean?"

"Perhaps a strait waistcoat would be advisable," said the major. "But as long as she remains tolerably manageable I shall not send her to an asylum."

Mrs. Delaford began to cry.

"Oh, Felix, how can you talk so?" sobbed she. "I am as sane as you are."

"Poor thing!" murmured the major, compassionately. "The hardest part of insanity must be when one becomes partially conscious of its deadly doom."

Mrs. Delaford shut the door rather vehemently and began to cry hysterically.

"I'm not mad!" said she. "I won't be made a madwoman of!"

effectually—the windows opened upon the dead wall of a neighboring Institute of the Fine Arts, and were three stories above ground. She might have shrieked herself hoarse in that direction before any one could hear her. She sat down to think. What should she do? What was to become of her? Did that dreadful hint of Felix concerning an asylum mean anything? For once in her life Mrs. Flashington was actually frightened.

"Has my temper really been so terrible," she asked herself, "that people mistake it for—I can hardly breathe the word—insanity?"

It was a new idea; she pondered over it carefully and cried bitterly over it.

When Hetty came, as usual, with the napkin-covered tray, Mrs. Delaford's face was pale and tear-swollen.

"Hetty," said she, "will you ask your master to step up here for a few minutes?"

Maj. Delaford obeyed the summons at once.

"Well, my love," said he, "what is it?"

"Felix," said Mrs. Delaford, bursting into fresh tears, "I have acted very foolishly. I beg your pardon. And I beg Rosamond's pardon, too."

Maj. Delaford opened the grating door at once—Justina flew into his arms—and then there was a reconciliation after the most approved style.

Mrs. Delaford was as sweet as a June morning after that—and if ever she manifested symptoms of a relapse all that Maj. Delaford found necessary was to allude, in a general way, to lunatics and asylums.

Double Gift.

A charming little story is told of an encounter between the Emperor Alexander of Russia and a quick-witted young girl. During the occupation of Paris the Emperor Alexander was present at the anniversary of one of the hospitals. Plates for contributions were passed by the patronesses of the institution to the visitors of the day, and a particularly pretty girl presented her plate for royalty's attention. The emperor dropped a handful of gold on the plate, saying to the young girl as he did so, "This is for beautiful bright eyes." The pretty maid courtied low, and again presented her plate to the generous donor. "What, more?" asked the emperor, with a smile. "Yes, sire," was the reply given with eyes demurely cast down, and mouth well under control, "now I would like something for the poor." The second handful was even more liberal than the first, and the emperor evidently felt that his speech had been well met and matched, as he smiled after the pretty girl, who went away rejoicing to the next visitor.

A Statement by a Well Known Citizen Who Has Found Great Relief by Using It.

The great good that Morrow's Kid-ne-oids are doing in Janesville for all forms of kidney and urinary disorders is being daily told by our citizens. All who use Kid-ne-oids for backache, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness and general debility give hearty expression of the quick relief they obtained.

Mrs. A. H. Taylor, 60 Prospect Ave., whose husband is a painter in Kent's shop, says: "My husband has complained of kidney backache for the past two years. He was also subject to rheumatism in his joints and to spells of dizziness and nervousness. He could not sleep or rest on account of his troubles. He was treated by doctors and took different kinds of kidney remedies, but only temporary relief followed, until he heard of Morrow's Kid-ne-oids and used them according to directions. Since using Kid-ne-oids he has not complained of backache or any of his former troubles, he sleeps well and looks so much better."

JANESVILLE VETS ARE GOING EAST

WILL ATTEND NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT G. A. R.

Members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, Will Leave On Official Car September 2 On a Pleasant Trip to Philadelphia—Final Arrangements Will Be Made Friday.

The W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, of the Grand Army of the Republic will leave Janesville on its official car Saturday, September 2nd, on its trip to the historic scenes of the east.

The car will leave on the Northwest-ern and will go from here to Chicago. Then on the Grand Trunk road to Niagara Falls and Buffalo and from there on the Lehigh Valley road to Philadelphia. From the Quaker City, tickets will be sold to New York and Gettysburg for four dollars for the round trip.

F. S. Winslow will have charge of the Sargent Post car. E. O. Kimbrey expects to go and Miss M. F. Edwards of the Lewis Knitting Company, will leave on the same train with the G. A. R. car for a trip in the east. C. D. Childs, ex-commander of the post, will also join the party. S. C. Burnham may also go.

Mr. Winslow said today that some of the post members living in the near vicinity of Janesville had written that they would join the trip, but that he could not make any definite statement as to whom would make up the party until the regular post meeting next Friday night.

The veterans anticipate a royal time on their trip and will visit many places of historic interest. They will leave Saturday morning.

Mr. Winslow says that he shall extend his trip to Gettysburg, where his old New York post intends to erect a monument to the veterans of the G. A. R.

The attendance at this national encampment is expected from the present outlook to be the largest for years.

There is considerable talk about the candidates, but no new ones have actually been proposed up to the present time. Col. Albert D. Shaw of New York, will in all probability hold the office of commander-in-chief, although anything is liable to turn up before the election. It is certain that a comrade will be chosen outside of Pennsylvania for the senior vice-commander-in-chief, as the Pennsylvania department is at the head of the movement to abolish a custom, which has existed for years, of giving the encampment state the senior vice commander-in-chief as a compliment.

William H. Baker of Boston, is proposed for surgeon general. Post Department Commander Michael Milton, of Kentucky, is a candidate for junior vice-commander-in-chief, and it is believed he will be elected.

Some of the Grand Army men outside of the department officers, who will be at the encampment are, Past Commander-in-chief A. G. Weissert, Past Department Commander Michael Griffin of Eau Claire, Benjamin F. Bryant of Ia Crosse, W. H. Upham of Marshfield, W. P. Hoard of Ft. Atkinson, D. Lloyd Jones and Henry G. Rogers of Milwaukee, and E. B. Gray of Madison.

GIVEN A RATHER "HARD HIT"

Such is What the Representatives of the Local Churches Got

It is reported to the Gazette that the lectures of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the union service in this city last Sunday night, gave the representatives of the churches of Janesville a rather "hard hit."

The reverend gentleman, it is said, stated humorously in his welcoming and introductory remarks that in his opinion the W. C. T. U. had been prone of late to hide their light under a bushel.

At this, the speaker of the evening indulged in a bit of harmless repartee. She remarked, it is reported, that the W. C. T. U. might be hiding their lights under a bushel, but she was sure that the church people were not doing so, because they had no lights to hide. They prayed for the W. C. T. U., she said, but did not vote for it, and that until the churches and religious bodies set up the bright and shining lights of consistent voting they should not accuse the W. C. T. U. organization of hiding their lights under a bushel. The speaker, it is said, brought down the house with her utterance in behalf of her cause, and put the audience in the best humor for her address.

WILL RETURN TO PHILIPPINES

Major Francis E. Case and Wife Visit Friends Here

Major Francis E. Case, wife and son of Portland, Oregon, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sherer for a short time this morning. They were on their way to Monroe to visit Mrs. Case's father, Rev. W. E. Case of that city. Mrs. Case will be remembered as Miss Nellie Smith, daughter of the late D. P. Smith of this city.

Major Case is a civil engineer and has lately returned from the Philippines, where he had enough experience to last an ordinary man a life time. He was engaged in thirty-six battles with the Filipinos and in one assault on the insurgent headquarters he captured an elegant sword cane from the Filipino general, Garcia. He prizes it greatly and carries it with him at all times.

Major Case desires to achieve further glory in his chosen profession and will soon return to the seat of war and go on the staff of General Lawton.

Fred R. Jones leaves tomorrow morning, for the Indiana Mineral Springs, where he will take baths for the next two weeks.

ANNUAL REUNION OF ROCK COUNTY VETS

A PLEASANT GATHERING AT BELOIT TODAY.

W. H. Sargent Post of This City Well Represented—Senator Whitehead Delivers the Address of the Day—Evensville Chosen As the Next Meeting Place—Officers.

The W. H. Sargent Post G. A. R. of this city, was well represented at the annual reunion of the Rock County Sailors' and Soldiers' association at Beloit today. About one hundred went down this morning, including the families of some of the veterans and several members of the Woman's Relief Corps.

The attendance at the annual gathering of the heroes in other cities during the past few years has been about 5,000, and it was confidently expected that that number would be reached at Beloit today. The veterans were met at the different trains by reception committees, who saw to it that the wants of the visitors were provided for. Dinner was served at noon in the G. A. R. hall, by the members of the Beloit Post, assisted by the ladies of the Relief Corps, for all those who did not stop at the hotels.

At 2 o'clock p. m. the soldiers marched in a body to the city park where the exercises were held. Mayor Simon Smith delivered an address of welcome for the city and Mrs. W. H. Grinnell spoke for the Grand Army and the Relief Corps. The address of the day was delivered by Senator Whitehead of this city, and his well chosen remarks were listened to with interest by all present.

A prayer was offered by Rev. Lucas, national chaplain of Rockford, after which there was music by the Beloit band, the G. A. R. drum corps and a ladies' quartette.

At the business meeting held this morning, the annual election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President—L. B. Earle, Evansville. Vice President—W. P. Clarke, Milton. Secretary—H. A. Babcock, Evansville. Treasurer—W. G. Palmer, Janesville.

Evansville was decided upon as the meeting place for next year. A committee was appointed to raise funds for a soldiers' monument to be erected in the court house park in this city. The committee was ordered to report on the matter at the next meeting.

The reunion will end with a rousing rally around the camp fire at Woodman hall tonight.

ANNUAL REUNION OF ROCK COUNTY VETS

A PLEASANT GATHERING AT BELOIT TODAY.

W. H. Sargent Post of This City Well Represented—Senator Whitehead Delivers the Address of the Day—Evensville Chosen As the Next Meeting Place—Officers.

The W. H. Sargent Post G. A. R. of this city, was well represented at the annual reunion of the Rock County Sailors' and Soldiers' association at Beloit today. About one hundred went down this morning, including the families of some of the veterans and several members of the Woman's Relief Corps.

The attendance at the annual gathering of the heroes in other cities during the past few years has been about 5,000, and it was confidently expected that that number would be reached at Beloit today. The veterans were met at the different trains by reception committees, who saw to it that the wants of the visitors were provided for. Dinner was served at noon in the G. A. R. hall, by the members of the Beloit Post, assisted by the ladies of the Relief Corps, for all those who did not stop at the hotels.

At 2 o'clock p. m. the soldiers marched in a body to the city park where the exercises were held. Mayor Simon Smith delivered an address of welcome for the city and Mrs. W. H. Grinnell spoke for the Grand Army and the Relief Corps. The address of the day was delivered by Senator Whitehead of this city, and his well chosen remarks were listened to with interest by all present.

A prayer was offered by Rev. Lucas, national chaplain of Rockford, after which there was music by the Beloit band, the G. A. R. drum corps and a ladies' quartette.

At the business meeting held this morning, the annual election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President—L. B. Earle, Evansville. Vice President—W. P. Clarke, Milton. Secretary—H. A. Babcock, Evansville. Treasurer—W. G. Palmer, Janesville.

Evansville was decided upon as the meeting place for next year. A committee was appointed to raise funds for a soldiers' monument to be erected in the court house park in this city. The committee was ordered to report on the matter at the next meeting.

The reunion will end with a rousing rally around the camp fire at Woodman hall tonight.

.. LATE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH..

SHIPS DASHED TO PIECES. SILAS A. HOLCOMB FOR JUDGE.

North Carolina Coast Struck with Wrecks of Vessels.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 23.—News has reached Norfolk of the loss of thirteen vessels near Cape Hatteras during the recent hurricane. Two hundred and fifty-six bales of cotton which came ashore are supposed to be of the cargo of some British steamer which foundered at sea, but cotton exporters say exports of cotton for this season are practically over, and assert their fear that some coastwise steamer, probably also carrying passengers, has been lost on a voyage for New York or a New England port.

The telephone wire along the coast has not yet been restored since blown down by the storm, hence the only definite news received was brought by the survivors who arrived here.

The fury of the storm is stated to have been awful. Twelve houses and two churches were washed away at Big Kinnakut, and twenty-five homeless people are housed in the life-saving station there. The spars of the schooner Randall were found nine miles distant from the wreck of the vessel, and are stated to have, with the canvas attached to them, been blown through the air to the place where they were found.

The loss of life is believed to be much greater than is now known. A British steamer is reported to be ashore near New Inlet and to be going to pieces. Her name is unknown, as is the fate of her crew.

HOW TO PAY THE LARGER ARMY

Question That Is perplexing Secretary of the Treasury Gage.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Secretary Gage is busy in the task of ascertaining whence the funds are to come with which to pay the largely increased army recently determined upon by the president and Secretary Root. The receipts of the government did not meet the extraordinary expenditures when the army was smaller, and the problem of how to meet the cost of 30,000 additional troops gives the treasury department some uneasiness.

The administration is unwilling to make another bond issue, but if it cannot be avoided this will be done. It is declared by treasury officials that the next congress will not lessen the war taxes imposed by the act of June 13, 1898.

To Welcome the Californians.

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—Market street, the great highway of this city, might well be termed a two-mile entrance to fairyland. Palms, evergreens and boughs from the giant redwoods of the California forests cover every gas and electric-light pole along the street from the ferry depot at Van Ness avenue, where the California volunteers will turn west on their march to the Presidio. Thousands of red, white and blue electric lamps are strung across Market street in rows fifty feet apart. The first California volunteers are expected to arrive Friday.

Bryan Conference a Failure.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The conference of the Bryan forces of the state, called here by Calvin E. Keach of Lansingburg, proved a failure in regard to members. Tonight in the convention hall, which seats 5,000 people, there were only a handful over 100 present. The conference adopted a series of Bryan resolutions and appointed an executive committee.

To Solve the Crisis.

London, Aug. 23.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says that Emperor William's return to Potsdam means an immediate solution of the ministerial crisis. He adds that Prince von Hohenlohe, president of the council, will retire and that he will be succeeded by either Baron von Buelow or Gen. Count von Waldersee.

Siberian Plague Spreading.

London, Aug. 23.—It is learned that the Siberian plague has made its appearance in the district of Samara, and several regiments have been summoned there by telegraph to keep order and prevent the spread of the disease. The newspapers have been ordered to keep silence in regard to the situation.

American Yacht Wins.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—To the American challenger Genesee belongs the honor of winning the first race for the Canada's cup, the Rochester boat outlasting the Beaver in the triangular twenty-mile course by one minute and twenty-two seconds.

Typhoon Delays Transports.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Gen. Otis cables from Manila that the sailing of the Zealandia and Valencia, with Montana troops and discharged men on board, had been arrested by the prevailing typhoon, but that they would leave today.

Perfect Fusion in Nebraska—The Resolutions Adopted.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—There was no opposition to ex-Gov. Holcomb's nomination for justice of the Supreme court. The populist convention nominated Holcomb and the nomination was endorsed by the democrats and the silver republicans.

The three conventions met in separate halls in the afternoon, perfected their organization, named their state central committees, conference committees and then adjourned until 8 o'clock. The first thing the democratic convention did at night was to endorse the work of the platform committee, of which Mr. W. J. Bryan was chairman.

The resolutions adopted endorse and emphasize each and every plank of the national platform adopted at Chicago in 1896.

On the question of trusts the platform declares: "We are opposed to the principle of monopoly wherever it manifests itself. We demand the enforcement of the present federal law, the enactment of such new legislation as may be necessary, and a constitutional amendment if the present constitution is construed to protect trusts, to the end that the monopolization of industry by private corporations may be absolutely prevented."

The platform praises Nebraska soldiers for their part in the war in the Philippines, but denounces the policy of the administration in the matter. The conflict is denounced as a "war for conquest."

The resolutions declare in favor of arbitration, favor popular election of United States senators, the initiative and referendum, declare against any increase in the standing army and against any foreign alliance, pledge every candidate to shun the railroad-pass bribe, and endorse Gov. Poynter's efforts to bring the First regiment home on special trains.

Greely, chief of the signal service, and Ambassador White, at Berlin, have been chosen as the American delegates to the congress of the International Geographical society at Berlin, Sept. 28 to Oct. 4. The society has never assembled in America and the American delegates will make strong effort to have the next congress meet in this country, probably at Washington.

To Raise Price of Writing Paper.

New York, Aug. 23.—It is reported that both the American Writing Paper company, the corporation recently formed by consolidation of many writing paper manufacturing concerns, and the independent mills will before long raise prices. The coarser grades, it is understood, will be advanced 1 cent a pound, and the price of the finer grades will be correspondingly raised a little later. The advance is attributed to the increased cost of raw materials.

Mineral Products in 1898.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The official report on the mineral production of the United States for the calendar year 1898 shows that since 1880 the total value of the mineral production of the United States has increased from $369,319,000 to $697,830,002 in 1898, nearly 90 per cent. The 1898 total product was the largest in history, exceeding that of 1892, which held the record prior to 1898, by nearly $50,000,000.

Mining Dispute Unsettled.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 23.—The prospect of a settlement of the difficulties which have caused the suspension of operations at the mines of the Chicago & Alton sub-district is seemingly as remote as ever. The joint meeting of miners and operators adjourned Tuesday with the miners still standing firmly for the state scale of 40 cents per ton, run of mine, and the operators offering 35 1/2 cents as their ultimatum, this being the rate fixed by the state board of arbitration when the matter was submitted to it some time ago.

Plankinton Bank Case.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 23.—The developments in the Plankinton bank examination made Tuesday indicate that the affairs of the bank were in even worse condition than has been suspected. Mr. Plankinton admitted that the directors of the bank had violated one of their own rules regarding the payment of overdrafts. Upon these admissions the attorneys for the creditors hope to make the directors of the bank personally liable for the sum of $122,000 paid out on overdrafts of President F. T. Day.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 73936]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have three children and suffered with falling of the womb and flooding. My physician scraped the womb, still the flooding continued and I was no better. At last he advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I thought I would write to Mrs. Pinkham for she could advise me better than any one if I was to take her remedies. I received her reply and followed all her directions and I am very glad to send you this testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just what it is recommended to be. I advise all women who suffer from these complaints to try it."—MARIE LEMP, 108 2d AVE., NEW YORK CITY.

Irish Prisoners Released.

Dublin, Aug. 23.—Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, Tuesday signed the expected order releasing from Maryborough jail James Fitzharris, alias "Skin the Goat," and Lawrence O'Hanlon, undergoing sentences in connection with the Phoenix Park murders.

ON A STORMY night, when the winds are howling outside, the home-keeper feels perfectly content with a few friends in his den, and a choice bottle of OLD UNDERFOOT RYE at hand. The various whiskies entering into it have been one and all selected for some peculiar good quality—aroma, age, flavor, or special distillation; and when these are combined in proper proportions and stored for many years in specially charred oaken barrels, the result is a mellow whiskey, renowned for its richness and purity.

WM. KAMMER.

A Bunch of Strings Used by the Ancients to Keep Accounts.
Dr. Max Uhle, a distinguished German scientist, has been for many years engaged in archaeological explorations in Peru. He now returns to that country under the auspices of the American Exploration society, for the purpose of clearing some of the unsolved problems of the ancient civilization of the Incas and to complete a collection for the museum of the University of California. He had made a similar collection for the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Uhle proposes to remain two years in Peru to complete his work. Among other important discoveries of Dr. Uhle is the kipu, a collection of knotted strings of different colors, which were used by the people of the ancient civilizations of Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia for the purpose of keeping accounts. They had no written language and no system of figures. Their arithmetic consisted solely of little knotted strings. Among the primitive villages of the Andes the descendants of the Incas depend upon the kipu for keeping accounts, and Dr. Uhle was so fortunate as to discover them in the hands of Indian herdsmen, who used them so skillfully that they are able to make a record of every animal, every bushel of feed and article of property that is entrusted to their care. The colors of the different strings represent different articles, such as barley, corn, sheep, rams, ewes, lambs, horses, etc., while the knots, by their size and distance from each other, express hundreds, tens and units, in such a manner as to accurately include the decimals. For example, one of the kipus obtained by Dr. Uhle from a shepherd near Lake Titicaca showed that he had delivered 387 sheep, 235 rams, 121 lambs 1 year old, and 99 still younger; the number of bushels of barley that had been used, the number of sheep killed and furnished to the kitchen of the owner of the flock, and the number eaten by the shepherds, the number that died of disease, the number killed by wild animals and by accident, as completely and as accurately as if it had all been set down by double-entry bookkeeping.

TO STOP BLEEDING.
Electricity Now Declared to Be the Best Relief.
The arresting of bleeding in surgical operations has always been one of the difficulties in certain cases, and the electric current has been used before this with a view to bringing about that condition of heat which is necessary in order to cause the blood to clot and so act as a block to the mouth of bleeding vessels, arresting hemorrhage. This, indeed, has resulted in the utilization of the electric cautery, as it is called in certain operations, the platinum wire at a red or almost white heat even supplanting the knife, because it burns through the tissues and at the same time prevents the wound bleeding to any great extent. This effect of heat was, indeed, known to our ancestors, who used red hot irons or boiling pitch, to sear the surface of the flesh after their operations, thus causing an immense amount of suffering to the patient, before the days of chloroform. A new adaptation of this use of electricity, for the purpose of stopping bleeding has been devised by inclosing a platinum wire in a pair of forceps or other instrument, the wire being insulated in a bed of burnt pipe clay, and as soon as the bleeding vessel is seized by the forceps and compressed in the ordinary way, an electric current is turned on, whose effect is so great that the tissues and the walls of the blood vessels are all agglutinated, so that the blood is no longer able to pass.

Capital Punishment in Japan.
Japan is considering the adoption of a new method of capital punishment by the process of extracting air from the death cell, creating a vacuum and thus causing death. The "death" or "vacuum" chamber, as it is to be known, is to be an air-tight cell built in or adjoining the prison. It is to be eight feet in height, ten feet wide and ten feet long. The four sides are to have each an air-tight window of three-quarters inch plate glass, so that the operators, prison and other officials may have an opportunity to witness the execution. The cell will be connected with an air pump, which will have a power of causing the expulsion of the air in the cell in one minute and forty seconds, thus acting so quickly as not to allow the victim to become suffocated or distressed in even the slightest degree, but, instead, causing almost instant death. In fact, it was shown when the experiment was tried upon a large St. Bernard dog that the animal was dead in a minute and a half after the vacuum was completed.

Bad for Scotch Salmon Fisheries.
This has been a bad year for the salmon fisheries of Scotland. In fact, for several years they have just been going from bad to worse. In 1895 they were fairly remunerative. That year 25,364 boxes were sent to Billingsgate (London), but ever since then the quantity has gradually declined. The following year, 1896, only 22,435 boxes were sent, in 1897 still less, 16,284 boxes, and last year, 1898, the total consignment was only 14,174 boxes. As the average for the eighteen years from 1879 was 23,161 boxes, the decrease of last year is close on 9,000. But it is to be remembered that the whole harvest of Scottish salmon does not now, as formerly, go to London. A considerable portion of it is now sent to other places. The returns of railway and shipping companies are probably the most complete, but even these only show 1,717 tons forwarded last year, against 2,164 tons in 1897.

Negro Colony to Be Established.
A negro colony is to be established on the farm of former Sheriff W. Howard Lake at Oak Grove, near Flemington, N. J. Everything has been planned on a big scale. The town has been laid out by a competent engineer, and the maps provide for every need of a modern town. Historic and beloved names have been selected for some of the streets, while other thoroughfares will bear the names of states in the union. Lincoln avenue promises to be the principal one in the town. The industrious and religious interests contemplate a big shoe factory to be run on the co-operative plan. A large grove has been set aside for camping grounds. Many of the leading colored people of the state are persuading their brethren to purchase lots. A great many of those who indorse the plan are preachers. The name of the town will be Rome.

There are no real virtues which are inconsistent with each other, and it is only our own deficiencies in some special direction that could make it appear so.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.
Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

OLD IMPERIAL BODYGUARD

Institution That Died with the Second French Empire.

The Cent Guards founded with the second empire in 1870. The corps dated from the time of the Crimean war, when a visit from Queen Victoria was expected. The tallest and finest looking men and officers were selected from the cavalry. There were 137 of the former and eleven of the latter, but the number of men was increased to 208. Their function was purely decorative, and they chiefly served within the palace. What swells the officers were in their sky-blue uniform bedight with golden lace! The corps had regulations of their own. They were on no account, when on duty, to stir unless to salute the emperor or empress, and only then when specially ordered. The worst breach of discipline would have been to forget they were to be motionless as caryatides. One day Marshal Castellane, a vain, old, peppery personage, had occasion to see the emperor soon after the creation of the Cent Guards. Two of them kept guard beside the door opening from the ante-room on the presence chamber. They remained in the regulation attitude—that is to say, with the right arm horizontally stretched out and holding a musket by the bayonet. The butt end rested on the ground. The marshal was in uniform. Furious at not being saluted, he asked the one nearest to him what it meant. The Cent Guard seemed neither to see nor hear. Castellane lost self-restraint and abused him. Still the soldier remained impassive. The irate marshal sent for Col. Verley to complain. The colonel failed to make him understand that approval and not chastisement was due. Thus the matter was brought before the emperor, who gave the complainant a sharp rap on the knuckles by expressing his pleasure at the Spartan attitude of a household guard who was bound to ignore every rank but the imperial.—London Truth.

SHE CHOKED A LYNX TO DEATH

Arizona Girl's Brave Battle with a Brute That Attacked Her.

George J. Manassa of this city, who has been spending the past two months at Kingman, Ariz., tells an interesting story of a case of heroism in a young girl that came under his observation, says the Kansas City Journal. He said that one day while there a ranchman, J. A. Carrow, brought into the town for medical treatment his son Murray, 8 years old, and his daughter, 17 years old, who were frightfully lacerated by the teeth and claws of some animal, and the rough usage showed upon the boy in wounds upon the arms, hands and the breast and shoulders. Upon inquiry he learned that Mr. Carrow was a wealthy ranch-owner living about twenty-five miles north of the place and that the two children had been lacerated by a lynx that had attacked the boy, and had been strangled to death by the girl. "The boy," Mr. Manassa said, "was playing in a swing in an almond orchard, near the house, when a ferocious lynx sprang upon him and pulled him to the ground. A life and death struggle then took place between the little fellow and the animal. Taking the lynx by the ear and one leg he succeeded in throwing it to the ground and holding it there, screaming for help. The lynx was biting his hand in a horrible manner, but with Spartan courage he held on until his sister came. The animal had got the better of the boy when the girl, with only her naked hands as weapons, gave battle. She struggled with the infuriated brute and, although he clawed and bit her, she never released her hold until she had it pinned to the ground by her knee and a death grip on its throat.

Costly Fare for Ostriches.

There was a happening at the Arizona ostrich farm recently which disproves the theory that the ostrich is satisfied with eating nails, barbed wire and the like. A man who had visited the farm the day before discovered that his gold watch was missing. Thinking that he might have lost it at the farm, he returned to look for it. When he arrived he enlisted the services of a youth and started in quest, without entertaining much hope of finding the watch. About the first thing noticed by the youth was an ostrich tossing something in the air. It was the watch, and would have been swallowed if it had been a glass-faced watch. It happened that both sides were opened and lodged in the beak. The next day the valuation of one of the birds was enhanced $50. It swallowed a diamond from the setting of a woman visitor, who inadvertently sought to console the bird by caressing its forehead.

The Skau Gull the Eagle's Foe.

The natives of Foula, one of the Shetland islands, make a business of rearing skau gulls in order to rid the island of the eagles that commit so many depredations. The magnificent red sandstone cliffs that skirt the north-western coast became a favorite haunt of the eagles, and in this inaccessible spot they increased so rapidly that they became a terror to the farmers and fishermen who dwell on this isolated spot. The skau gulls are also strong and fierce, and the inveterate foe of the eagle. In battle the gulls are nearly always victorious, and so the inhabitants of Foula hit upon the novel plan of feeding and caring for skau gulls, which, though formidable to their feathered enemies, are very peaceful and docile when brought in contact with man.

Man is utterly devoid of sentiment. He will scoop the bottom out of an egg with never a thought that the mother of that egg may be 100 miles away in the rain.
